

GRANDMASTER CHEN XIAO XING

VILLAGE TRAINING: XINJIA

March 11-15, 2015

Please join us in welcoming Chen Xiaoxing back to Seattle for his 8th visit. This year is a unique opportunity to spend five days studying the form and principles of the Xinjia Yilu, "New Frame First Road." There is no other chance to go as deep with this teacher and this form during his North American Tour.

Chen Xiaoxing is the living embodiment of the Chen Village Taiji tradition and the leading representative of the Chen family in China. He is the brother of Chen Xiaowang and the principal of the Chenjiagou Taijiquan School in Henan province. Grandmaster Chen Xiaoxing is known as Taiji Miao Shou ("highly skilled person") of the Chen family 19th generation. From 1979-1985 he won seven first-prize titles in national and provincial martial arts tournaments in Taiji push hands and weapons. Chen Xiaoxing is known to be generous in sharing his knowledge as he directly oversees the training of local and foreign students. He was awarded the title of 'Star of Taiji' by Wen Xian county in 1994 and the title of International Taiji Master in 1998. He has been regularly featured in articles published by popular martial arts magazines and continues to be sought out in literary circles as an expert in his field. You will truly enjoy Grandmaster Chen's Village teaching style and most certainly will enrich your over all Tai Chi practice.
